Who is Johnson Controls?

VISION

A safe, comfortable
and sustainable world

MISSION

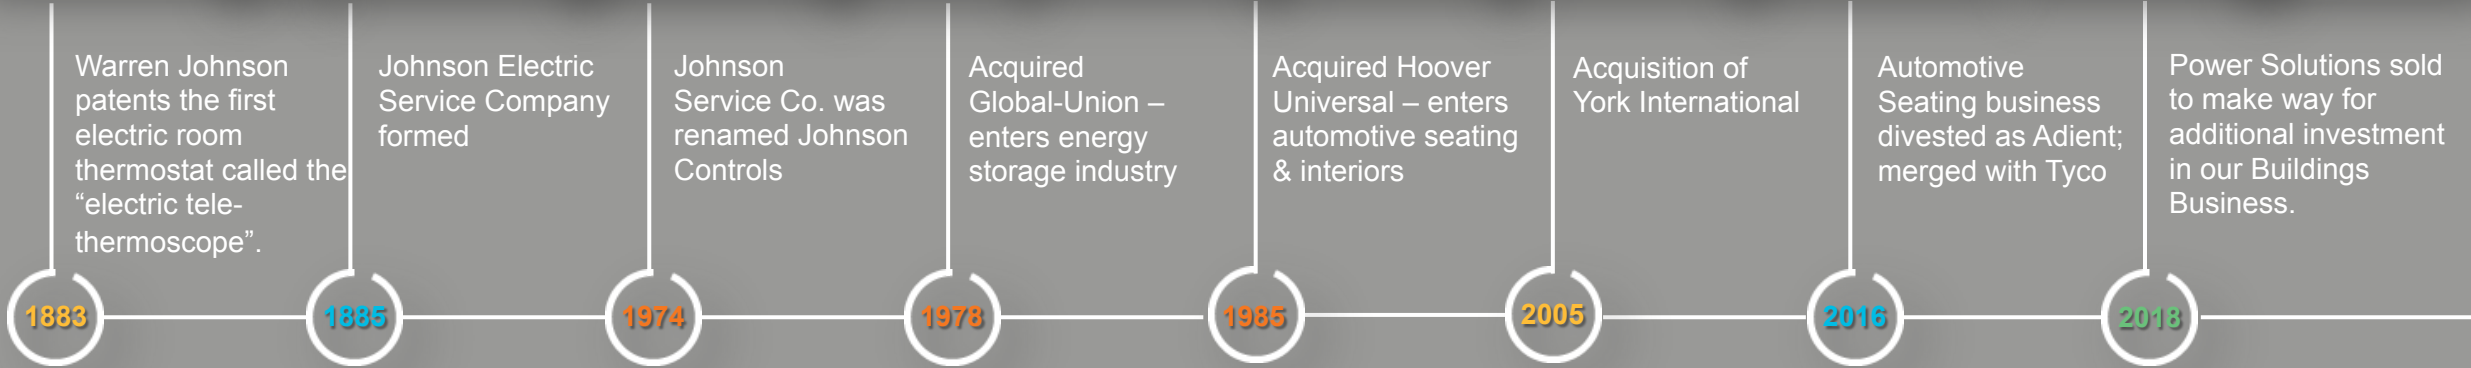

Helping our customers win
everywhere, every day

VALUES

Integrity first, purpose
led, customer driven,
future focused, one team

130 Year History

1908
The first skyscraper, Singer Sewing Machine's New York City headquarters, has "every approved modern device for comfort, convenience and safety," including 1,200 Johnson Service Company room thermostats.

1955
Eli Lilly & Company rushes researcher Jonas Salk's polio vaccine into mass production at its Indianapolis, Indiana, plant. Johnson Service Company installs critical temperature-regulating apparatus in rooms where the virus is grown.

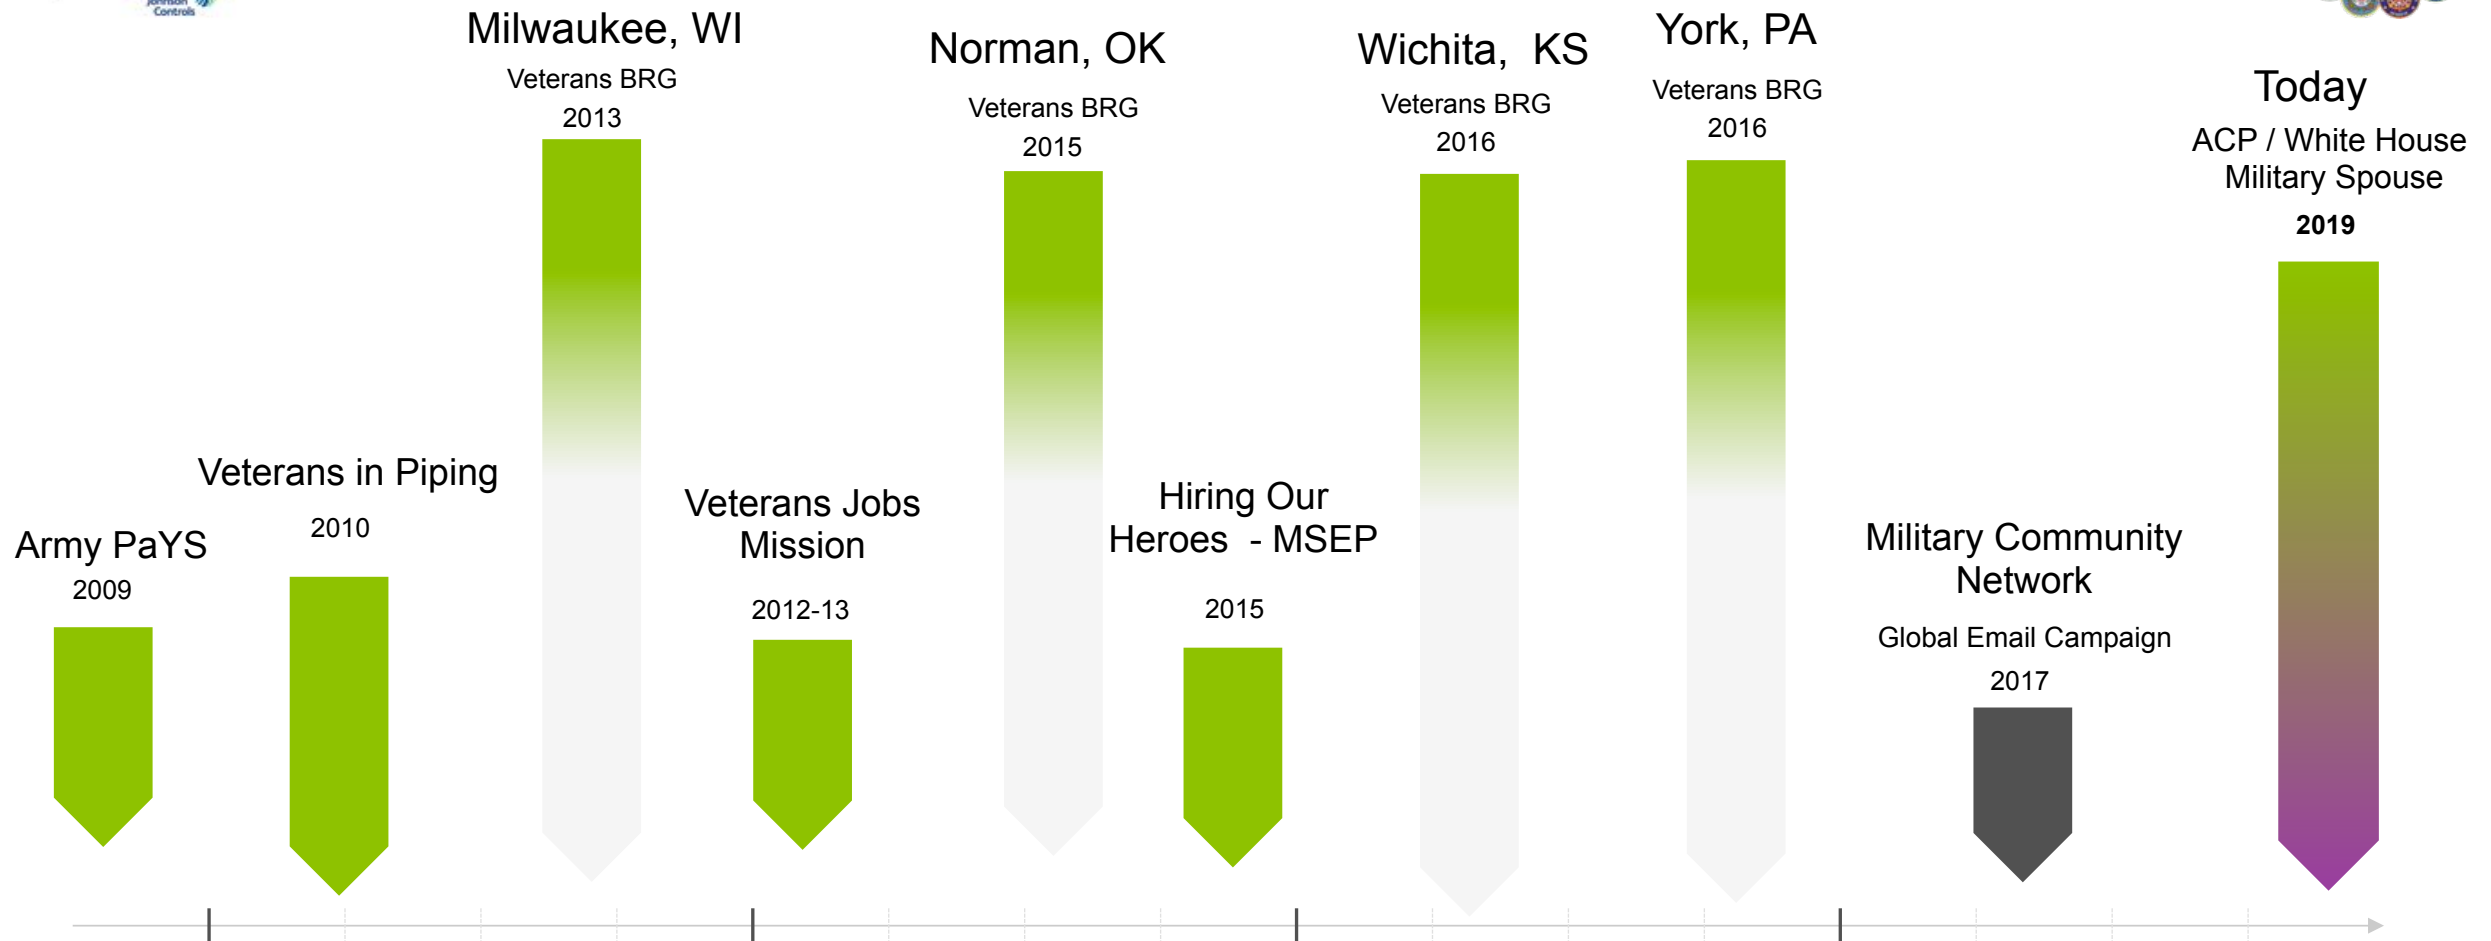

1965
Johnson Service Company provides climate controls to prevent rain clouds forming in the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Cape Canaveral, Florida, vehicle assembly building. Future Johnson Controls company York International installs 10,500 tons of water chillers for air conditioning.

The Johnson Controls product portfolio is unmatched
